Dr. Anamya Bibu is very intelligent and calm.
Her way of teaching is simplified & includes case laws, illustrations. etc.

Induction Program on IPR

Venue: - Modern Law College, Pune,

Date: - 22 Oct 2019

Time: - 11.00 A.M.

Speaker: - Asst. Prof. Sujata Tikande

Induction program on Intellectual Property Law was conducted on 22nd Oct 2019 at P.E.S. Modern Law College, Pune.

Respected staff, non-teaching staff and students warmly welcomed the guest with excitement. Asst. Prof. Sujata Tikande introduced the subject of Intellectual Property Law to the students.

Intellectual Property deliberates a broader sense of definition of the legal property which is a result of the industrial activities, scientific acts and artistic works. Countries have laws to protect intellectual property for two main reasons. One is to give statutory expression to the moral and economic rights of the creators to their creations and inventions and such rights of the public in access to those creations. The second is to promote, as a deliberate act of government policy, creativity and dissemination and application of its results and to encourage fair trading which would contribute to economic and social development.

The expression 'industrial property' covers inventions and industrial designs. Simply stated, inventions are new solutions to technical problems, and industrial designs are aesthetic creations determining the appearance of industrial products. In addition, industrial property includes trademarks, service marks, commercial names and designations, including indications of source and appellations of origin, and protection against unfair competition. Hence the aspect of intellectual creations -although existent -is less prominent, but what counts here is that the object of industrial property typically consists of signs transmitting information to consumers, in particular, as regards products and services offered on the market, and that the protection is directed against unauthorized use of such signs which is likely to mislead consumers and misleading practices in general.

It was very well planned and organized. The programme proved very fruitful for the students as they got valuable guidance and important insights regarding Intellectual Property Rights.

Time: - 11.00 A.M.

Speaker: - Asst. Prof. Pratik Salgar

Respected staff, non-teaching staff and students warmly welcomed the guest with excitement. Asst. Prof. Pratik Salgar introduced the subject of jurisprudence to the students.

Jurisprudence helps a person to understand the deeper meaning of the law. Jurisprudence is an integral part of the law which is based on theories and various analysis. Jurisprudence talks about the relationship of law with other social sciences, society, man and nature.

Jurisprudence means the study of law in a logical and philosophical manner. The word Jurisprudence has been originated from the Latin word Juris prudentia which can be broken down into two parts, and that is juris which originated from the word jus which means law and the word prudential which means prudence, forethought or discretion.

Jurisprudence can also be referred to as a legal theory. Jurisprudence gives us an overview and a much more in-depth understanding of the law and the role of law in society. Jurisprudence deals with legal reasoning, legal institutions and legal systems.

INDUCTION PROGRAMME

LECTURE ON INTRODUCTION TO CRIMINAL LAW

The concern resource person had briefly explained the basic concepts of Law of crimes and the procedural aspects related to trials of criminals. Not only the below mentioned topics but also the concern faculty had touched the basics of law of Evidence. The lecture was conducted on _____and ___ number of students attended the lecture.

I. Indian Penal Code

The Indian Penal Code (IPC) is the main document which governs all criminal acts and the punishments they ought to be charged with. The objective of enacting the IPC was to provide a general and exhaustive penal code for crime in India. However, there are several other penal statutes that govern various other offences in addition to the IPC. In animal law, a notable such statute is the Prevention of Cruelty Against Animals Act. In order to be held liable under the IPC, the accused must possess both mens rea (guilty mind) and actus reas (guilty act).

The IPC extends to the whole of India. Punishments under the IPC can be extended both to offences committed within India as well as offences committed beyond, but which by law may be tried, within India. The provisions of IPC apply also to any offence committed by any citizen of India in any place without and beyond India and by any person on any ship or aircraft registered in India wherever it may be.

II. Criminal Procedure Code (1974)

The Criminal Procedure Code (CrPC) is a procedural law which states how the police machinery is to function as far as investigation and procedure is to be followed by courts during investigation and trial. The CrPC classifies criminal offences into several categories such as bailable, non-bailable, cognizable and non-cognizable offences. The procedural treatment of different offences is different. The various steps at the time to filing a complaint such as filing a First Information Report (FIR), gathering evidence and initiating an enquiry are all governed by the CrPC. The CrPC further lays down classes of criminal courts.

III. Law of Evidence

The Law of Evidence is a significant part of any branch of the judicial system irrespective of any nation, which means the role of evidence is very important statute in every country. But talking specifically about India the enactment of Indian Evidence Act has changed our judicial system completely as there were no codified laws relating to evidence which enriched our judicial system by providing rules and regulations for ascertaining the shreds of evidence. Although the India Evidence Act is based on English law still it is not fully comprehensive and also it is a 'Lex Fori' law which means law of the land where court proceedings are taken. The term 'evidence' is derived from Latin word i.e., 'Evident' or 'Evidere' which means 'to show clearly, or to discover, or to ascertain or to prove.'

Induction Program on Procedural Laws and Limitation Act

Venue: - Modern Law College, Pune,

Date: - 14 Oct 2019

Time: - 11.00 A.M.

Speaker: - Asst. Prof. Prajakta Pimpalshende

Induction program on was conducted on 14 Oct 2019 at P.E.S. Modern Law College, Pune.

Respected staff, non-teaching staff and students warmly welcomed the guest with excitement. Asst. Prof. Prajakta Pimpalshende introduced the subject of Procedural Laws and Limitation Act to the students.

Basics Of Civil Procedure Code:

- The Civil Procedure Code was passed in 1908 and which was came into force from 1st January 1909.
- C.P.C. is in force since 1908. At the time of passing of this act,our constitution was not in existence that's why C.P.C. is a pre-Constitutional law.
- C.P.C. and any other laws which has been in existence before the commencement of the constitution, they derives its validity from article 372 of the Indian constitution.
- In Article 372 of Indian constitution is clearly mention that all pre-constitutional law will continue remain in force unless and until it altered or repealed or amended by a competent Legislature or by any competent authority.

Division of Civil Procedure Code

Civil Procedure Code is Divided into two parts –
(1) Sections
(2) Orders and Rules mentioned in first schedule.

Sections

- There are total 158 sections under Civil Procedure Code
- Sections are the main provisions but these are not elaborated, so details of those are given in various rules.

Orders

- There are total 51 Orders in Civil Procedure Code.
- The order are the compilation of various rules.
- The rules are the elaboration of the proceedings.
- Rules converted into various chapter and these chapters are called orders.

PRINCIPAL
P. E. Society's
Modern Law College
Ganeshkhind, Pune-16.

- Sections under C.P.C. can be amended by the Parliament and by the State Legislatures but State Legislature can amend only as per the provisions of Article 254 of Indian constitution.
- Rules can be amended by the Parliament, State Legislature and even by the High courts.
- C.P.C. comes under Entry Number 13, List 3, of 7th Schedule of the Indian Constitution. List 3 is a Concurrent list, in which Parliament and State Legislature can make law to that topic which is mention in this list.

Types of Laws

Law can be Divided into two Groups:
(1) Substantive law.
(2) Procedural or adjective law.

- Substantive law determines rights and liabilities of parties while Procedural or Adjective law prescribes the practice, procedure and machinery for the enforcement of those rights and liabilities.
- Civil Procedure Code is a Procedural /Adjective Law. It neither creates nor takes away any right. Its motive is to regulate the procedure to be followed by the civil court.
- Procedure is considered to be a handmade of Justice and therefore, procedural law cannot be applied without the principal of natural justice.
- The principles of equity and justice are the parts of the basic structure of the constitution and therefore they have to be found, to be implicit in the C.P.C. and any other law as well.

History of the Code

- Before 1859 there was uniform code of Civil Procedure, the first uniform Code of Civil Procedure was enacted in 1859.
- Prior to 1859, there was different systems of Civil Procedure in different parts of the country.
- Though, the Act of 1859 was not made applicable to the Supreme Court and the presidency towns and to the presidency small cause court were made some amendments in the Code and the code was applied to the whole of British India but there were many defects in it and therefore a new code was enacted in 1977.
- Therefore another code was enacted in 1882 which was also amended from time to time.
- In 1908, the present code of civil procedure was enacted. It was amended by two important amendment acts of 1951 and 1956, the following amendment were made in it:

1. A litigant should get a fair trial in accordance with the accepted principles of natural justice.
2. Every effort should be made to expedite disposal of civil suits and proceedings, so that justice may not be delayed.
3.The procedure adopted should not be complicated, and should, to the utmost extent possible, ensure a fair deal to the poorer sections of the community who do not have means to engage a pleader to defend their cases.

It was very well planned and organized. The programme proved very fruitful for the students as they got valuable guidance and important insights regarding Procedural Laws and Limitation Act.

Date: - 24 Oct 2019

Time: - 11.00 A.M.

Speaker: - Asst. Prof. Pratik Salgar

Induction program on Research Design was conducted on 24th Oct 2019 at P.E.S. Modern Law College, Pune.

Respected staff, non-teaching staff and students warmly welcomed the guest with excitement. Asst. Prof. Pratik Salgar introduced the subject of research design to the students. The word 'design' has various meanings. But, in relation to the subject concern, it is a pattern or an outline of research project's workings. It is the statement of essential elements of a study that provides basic guidelines of conducting the project. It is same as the blue print of architect's work. Research design is a broad framework that states the total pattern of conducting research project. It specifies objectives, data collection and analysis methods, time, costs, responsibility, probable outcomes, and actions.

Further Sir explained the contents -

Contents of Research Design:

The most common aspects involved in research design include at least followings:

1. Statement of research objectives, i.e., why the research project is to be conducted

2. Type of data needed

3. Definition of population and sampling procedures to be followed

4. Time, costs, and responsibility specification

Methods, ways, and procedures used for collection of data

6. Data analysis – tools or methods used to analyze data

7. Probable output or research outcomes and possible actions to be taken based on those outcomes

PRINCIPAL

Ganeshkhind, Pune-16.

Types of Research Designs:

The research design is a broad framework that describes how the entire research project is carried out. Basically, there can be three types of research designs – exploratory research design, descriptive research design, and experimental (or causal) research design. Use of particular research design depends upon type of problem under study.

It was very well planned and organized. The programme proved very fruitful for the students as they got valuable guidance and important insights regarding research design.
