About the College

Modern Law College was established by the Society in the year 2003 at Ganeshkhind, Pune-16 with an object of imparting quality based legal education. The College conducts the five years Integrated Law course, three years Bachelor of Laws course and Master of Laws course along with Diploma Courses in various subjects like Diploma in Taxation Laws, Diploma in Labour Laws and Labour Welfare, Diploma in Intellectual Property Laws and Diploma in Cyber Laws. In a short span of time, our Law College has made a remarkable development, academic as well as in infrastructure. Following the tradition of Progressive Education Society, our College has witnessed many moments of pride when our students were ranked in University Examinations as well as many other sports and extra - curricular activities. The college always believes in the philosophy of imparting education through social transformation. Towards this end, the college has organized various National and State Level Seminars, National Level Moot Court Competitions, and other activities for the students.

About the Seminar

The Right to Privacy per say is not a specifically guaranteed fundamental right under the Constitution of India, however the apex court has time and again interpreted it indirectly as a part and parcel of fundamental rights. There have been instances in various cases decided by the apex court. The right to privacy in India has come a long way from the decision given in Kharak Singh's case which was one of the first instances which incorporated right to privacy with as an integral part of right to life and personal liberty. Subsequently, this right has come under the radar of reasonable restrictions under Article 19 (2) and with the different facets of this right been invoked by a plethora of judgments including the areas like privacy in communications, freedom of movement, physical privacy and mental privacy, Unique Identification Number related privacy, etc., there are still different facets of the right which need to be established. With the DNA Profiling Bill, again the discussion relating to right to privacy has come on the forefront. This Seminar is therefore an attempt to analyse the right to privacy from different perspectives and check the status of this right.

Objectives of the Seminar

- To understand the various facets of Right to Privacy in India
- To determine the scope of Right to Privacy which can be guaranteed
- To analyse the significance of technological advancements on the restrictions on Right to Privacy
- To analyse the effect of DNA profiling, biometric identification, etc. on the criminal liability on the accused.

On 24th August, Right to privacy has become fundamental right guaranteed under our Constitution after the Hon'ble Supreme Court in 9 judge bench, held that right to privacy is intrinsic part of Art. 21 right to life and personal liberty. It has become one of the most indispensable decisions in India that overruled the previous judgments held in M.P. Sharma case and Kharak Singh case with ratio of 8 and 6 bench judgments.

Any right being elevated to the status of a fundamental is a big event in the Constitutional Research and especially if there is Right to Privacy which is in question then the importance of this right further enhances due to the information technology era. Data privacy in light of the Aadhar Act and the possibility of Human DNA Profiling in India around the corner has further enhanced the impact of the recent Judgment of Justice K.S. Puttuswamy v. Union of India and Others. The notion of Fundamental Rights has been enhanced due to this judgment which will have a far reaching impact on the Interpretation of Fundamental Rights in India, especially in this era of Information Technology. There are going to conflicting interests involved in the process of application of this right as a fundamental right.

The academic discourse and dialogue in this field definitely helped in enhancing the knowledge of this newly accepted Fundamental Right for its proper utilization. It is with this objective that the College conducted the National Seminar to which there was a tremendous support from all the participants. There was an overwhelming response to the Seminar and participants from all over the country gathered to deliberate on the topic of right to privacy. Participants registered from Gujarat, Rajasthan, Delhi, Hyderabad, Karnataka and many parts of Maharashtra for this seminar. Out if the many abstracts submitted for participation for research paper presentation, 22 papers were selected for presentation as well as publication in the Seminar Proceeding bearing an ISBN number.

The keynote address was delivered by Prof. Dr. Bhavani Prasad Panda, Vice Chancellor of Maharashtra National Law University, Mumbai. He discussed about the concept of Right to Privacy and its relevance in our life right from childhood. The concept of privacy changes from person to person and from age to age. The concept of privacy has gained importance in this era due to the impact of information technology on our lives. The changing global scenario of collection and dissemination of information through the companies like Google is a very great threat to the privacy of the people. With the implementation of the Adhaar Scheme being changed to Adhaar Act, there are further dimensions of privacy being tapped and utilised. The Jurisprudence of right to privacy has to still grow to attain maturity for the contemporary society.

Technical Session I

The First Technical Session was conducted by Prof. Dr. Shruti Tambe, Head, Department of Sociology who spoke about the Right to Privacy from the Sociological perspective citing contemporary issues and providing insights on the various issues pertaining to the elevation of right to privacy as a fundamental right. In modernity, the suppression of privacy has increased to a great extent. This conception has enhanced in its application in the modern era as compared to the medieval era. Survelliance is the essence of Bio-power, which is a new concept which curtails the ideas and thinking which affects the human life and dignity.

About NSS

National Service Scheme, under the Ministry of Youth Affairs & Sports Govt. of India, popularly known as NSS was launched in Gandhiji's Birth Centenary Year 1969, in 37 Universities involving 40,000 students with primary focus on the development of personality of students through community service. Today, NSS has more than 3.2 million student volunteers on its roll spread over 298 Universities and 42 (+2) Senior Secondary Councils and Directorate of Vocational Education all over the country. From its inception, more than 3.75 crores students from Universities, Colleges and Institutions of higher learning have benefited from the NSS activities, as student volunteers.

NSS volunteers generally work with villages, slums and voluntary agencies to complete 120 hours of regular activities during an academic year. As per the fundamental principles of National Service Scheme, a volunteer is expected to remain in constant touch with the community. Hence, it is of vital importance that a particular village/slum is selected for implementation of NSS programmes. As the NSS volunteer is to live with the members of the community and learn from their experience during his/her tenure in NSS, the village/slum should be carefully selected for adoption by NSS unit.

The overall aim of National Service Scheme as envisaged is to give an extension dimension to the higher education system and orient the student youth to community service while they are studying in educational institution. The reason for the formulation of this objective is the general realization that the college and 10 + 2 level students have tendency to get alienated from the village/slum masses which constitute the majority of the population of the country. The educated youth who are, expected to take the reins of administration in future are found to be unaware of the problems of the village/ slum community and, in certain cases are indifferent towards their needs and problems. Therefore it is necessary to arouse the social conscience of the students, and to provide them an opportunity to work with the people in the villages and slums. It is felt that their interaction with common villagers and slum dwellers will expose them to the realities of life and bring about a change in their social perception.

Objectives:

The broad objectives of NSS are to:-

1. Understand the community in which they work;
2. Understand themselves in relation to their community;
3. Identify the needs and problems of the community and involve them in problem solving process;
4. Develop among themselves a sense of social and civic responsibility;
5. Utilize their knowledge in finding practical problems;
6. Gain skills in mobilizing community participation;

7. Develop competence required for group living and sharing of responsibilities;
8. Acquire leadership qualities and democratic attitude;
9. Develop capacity to meet emergence and natural disasters and
10. Practice national integration and social harmony.

The Motto:

The motto or watchword of the National Service Scheme is 'NOT ME BUT YOU'. This reflects the essence of democratic living and upholds the need for selfless service and appreciation of other person's point of view and also to show consideration. Manual is based on the 'Rath' wheel of the Konark Sun Temple situated in Orissa. These giant wheels of the Sun Temple portray the cycle of creation, preservation and release, and signify the movement in life across time and space. The design of the symbol, a simplified form of the Sun chariot wheel primarily depicts movement. The wheel signifies the progressive cycle of life; it stands for continuity as well as change and implies the continuous striving of NSS for social transformation and upliftment.

Celebration of Independence Day

The NSS Unit of the Modern Law College is officially starts its official year with the celebration of the Independence Day that is on 15th August. MESSAGE FROM THE PRINCIPAL

Hello Friends!

It is an honour and a privilege to be the Principal of Modern Law College, the College that stands for excellence and continuously sets the highest standards, the College is an alma mater which all alumni look back to with fond memories.

As rightly said by Dean Roscoe Pound "Law is experience developed by reason and applied continually to further experience ", Thus we at Modern Law College try to meet this saying by imparting the experience of giving logical reasoning and thus understaing the philosophy of the law by the students.

In my opinion an education institute is not just about bricks, mortar & concrete, but about building character, enriching minds & about enriching experiences that lasts a life time. Life is not a set of instructions but is a series of experiences & learning process. P.E.S Modern law College is organising the 11th Shankararo Kanitkar National Moot Court Competition on 14th January 2017. We have several colleges participating in it. My best wishes are with all the team and hope they do excel in the future.

I hope, we will do our best for the progress of the college and the students under the able guidance of our management and our well wishers.

About Shankarrao Kanitkar National Level Moot Court

By battling and arguing, you might succeed in confounding your listener but your victory will be in vain because you will never obtain the sincere agreement of your adversary- Franklin Roosevelt, President, United States of America. As rightly said by Franklin Roosevelt, argument must not be to defeat your opponent but to obtain his agreement, and what better way than by practice.

Shankarrao Kanitkar National Level Moot Court Competition is an annual moot competition hosted by the Progressive Education Society's Modern Law College, Ganeshkhind, Pune-16. This Competition has been established in the name of our founder member of society Late Shri. Shankarrao Kanitkar, a visionary in the field of education. This competition is intended to be a platform for law students studying in all over India. Here these budding students' advocates can match their advocacy skills with each other.

The special feature of this competition is that it is not confined to any subject or topic. We at Modern Law College believe and give a varied flavour of different subjects and legal intricacies to the law students. Thus we help in overall understanding and development of a law student. It is the aspiration of the college to undertake the issues that are relevant in the changing society and thus we draft the moot problem accordingly.

The 11th Shankarrao Kanitkar National Level Moot Competition was held on 14th January, 2017. The problem was on the lines of Judicial Accountability. The problem involved Striking down of post of governor under the Constitution and removal of that post. As the case had many debates and deliberations on this point special attention is required to be added, hence moot court competition was organized.

MOOT PROBLEM (Hypothetical)

Mr. Vikas Gite, a renowned mass leader and popular leader of Indiana Janata Party who also had criminal background (also former Deputy CM of state of Dakshin Pradesh) lost a Lok Sabha election to Mr. Anmol Rokade. On 7th July 2016, Ms. Shashikala, sister of Mr. Anmol Rokade, was found dead at the farm house of Mr. Vikas Gite. A case of murder was registered on the same day and charge sheet was filed on 17th August, 2016 against Mr. Vikas Gite. Mr. Vikas Gite in a press interview claimed that, he had no role to play in this incident and raised counter allegations about wrongful practices at the election campaign.

While the Inquiry was going on, considering the wide mass and political support (15 MLA's were supporting Mr. Vikas Gite), Central Govt. (coalition govt. lead by IJP) on 26th Sept. 2016 appointed Mr. Vikas Gite as Governor of State of Maharajya. By virtue of immunities under the Constitution of Indiana, all cases and inquiries against Mr. Vikas Gite were suspended. Taking in to consideration the misuse of boundless powers relating to appointment and term of Governor under constitution (specially Article 156 (1)), and limited role of Governor in modern democratic setup, MLRC, a private organisation filed a petition in SC of Indiana for striking down the provisions relating to the Governor under the Constitution of Indiana and directing the Government for removal of post of Governor.

Note: The laws of Indiana are in parity with Indian Law Problem and names in the same are hypothetical and in case of resemblance, it is incidental and not intentional.

One Day Workshop on 'Nexus between Law and Social Justice: In Contemporary Era'

The idea of Social Justice and Social Welfare is fundamental and dynamic in the administration of a country. As pointed out by Dr. B. R. Ambedkar in his last speech delivered in the Constituent Assembly on 25th November 1949, the burden of creating the society based on the principles of Liberty, Equality and Fraternity which ultimately leads towards the era of social justice is bestowed upon us, "We the people of India". To achieve the goal of Social, Economic and Political Justice as enshrined under the preamble of the Constitution of India, we have to take careful steps in creating and implementing the laws in India. The Legal fraternity, Law Makers as well as academicians, are carrying the responsibility of taking the chariot of justice ahead. Keeping this in mind the Savitribai Phule Pune University, Department of Law in Collaboration with P. E. Society's Modern Law College has organised One Day Workshop on 'Nexus between Law and Social Justice: In Contemporary Era' on 5th October, 2017.

The idea of Social Justice cannot be studied without exploring the role played by the law in this regard. The law has the most vital role to play in rendering the social justice. This workshop is arranged mainly with focus of the relationship of Law with the idea of Social Justice in the contemporary era. The Law makers and Academicians are the main players who shape the legal policies and therefore they are instrumental in achieving the goals of social justice. In this workshop all the stake holders including, legal practitioners, judicial officers and academicians are expected to deliberate on the intricacies involved in and around this topic. Again, to quote Dr. B. R. Ambedkar, while elaborating the idea of justice had very aptly said,

> "Justice has always evoked ideas of equality, of proportion of compensation. Equity signifies equality. Rules and regulations, right and righteousness are concerned with equality in value. If all men are equal, then all men are of the same essence, and the common essence entitles them of the same fundamental rights and equal liberty... In short justice is another name of liberty, equality and fraternity."

With the spirit of above vision, this workshop aimed to throw light on various dimensions of the Social Justice and it's inter-relationship with the Law. The role played by law is unparallel in transforming the dimensions of the social justice in all phases of times. Law and Legal Fraternity had been significant in expanding the horizons of Social Justice. The general theme of workshop included following sub themes but not limited to

a. Access to Justice : The means, Modes and Methods of Law
b. Role of Judiciary in promoting social Justice
c. Social Justice, Social Security and Social Welfare laws

The workshop also included two sessions dedicated to Analysis and Review of some prominent books on the issues of Social Justice written by many champions of Social Justice. To name few Dr. B. R. Ambedkar, Justice V. R. Krishna Iyer, Justice Subba Rao, Amartya Sen and many others have written voluminous number of pages on the different angles of the Social Justice. Their views at this juncture of times are beacon showing the paths and therefore inevitable to study.

About the Competition

"By battling and arguing, you might succeed in confounding your listener but your victory will be in vain because you will never obtain the sincere agreement of your adversary".

Franklin Roosevelt

President, United States of America

As rightly said by Franklin Roosevelt, an argument must not be to defeat your opponent but to obtain his agreement, and what better way than by practice.

Shankarrrao Kanitkar National Moot Court Competition is an annual moot court competition organized by the Progressive Education Society's Modern Law College, Pune. This competition has been established in the name of our founder member of the society Late Shri Shankarrao Kanitkar, a visionary in the field of education. This competition is intended to be a platform for law students studying in all over India. Here these budding advocates can match their advocacy skills with each other. The special feature of this competition is that it is not confined to any subject or topic. It is the aspiration of the college to undertake the issues that are relevant in the changing society and thus we draft the moot problem accordingly.

The 12th Shankarrao Kanitkar National Moot Court Competition was held on 13th January, 2018. The theme revolved around right to privacy. The moot problem challenged the constitutional validity of the Aadhaar Act of 2016. As the case had arguments supporting as well as opposing the Act, the same was picked as the topic of the competition.

Asst. Prof. Abhijeet Dhere

Moot In-charge

Asst. Prof. Harshvardhan Lonkar

Moot Problem

MLRC, A Legal Research Centre, has approached the Honourable Supreme Court of Indiana, through a Public Interest Petition, against the Union of Indiana, contending that the collection of the biometric data for the purpose of Janadhar Card, violates the Right to privacy of the citizens. For obtaining the Janadhar Card, applicant has to provide his biometric data. The Petitioner contends that this is a violation of Article 21 of the Constitution of Indiana which grants "right to Privacy" as a fundamental right, which is evident in various decisions of the Apex Court and therefore the Janadhar Card Scheme should be declared Unconstitutional.

In another petition filed by ACCESS, a NGO working on the issues regarding civil and political rights of citizens, before Honourable Supreme Court, has contended that Janadhar Card is made mandatory by Government to avail the benefits under various social welfare schemes. The petitioner alleged that non availability of Janadhar Card denies the citizens the access to the benefits under various social welfare schemes, which is clear violation of fundamental right to equality as guaranteed by the Constitution of Indiana. Secondly the NGO has contended that by denying citizens access to scheme also defeats the basic purpose of welfare state enshrined under the Directive Principles of State policies given in Constitution of Indiana.

The Honourable Supreme Court taking into consideration the gravity of the same, decided to hear the matters jointly and the notice was issued to the Union of Indiana in this regard.

The main issues for consideration are:-

1. Whether "Right to Privacy" is guaranteed in the Part III of Constitution of Indiana?

2. Whether the Janadhar Card Scheme is unconstitutional and violates the provisions of Part III of the Constitution of Indiana?

3. Other ancillary issues, if any.

The case is scheduled for final hearing on 13th January, 2018.

Note: All laws and legal system of Union of Indiana is similar to laws and legal system of Union of India.

Clarifications

Following are the clarifications which the participants shall keep in mind.

01. The participants shall not cite J. Puttaswamy case's judgment in their arguments/memorial. They shall presume as if the judgment has not been delivered.

02. Adhaar and Janadhar schemes are analogous to each other.

03. Participants shall presume that they are arguing before the largest constitutional bench.

04. The participants may refer newspaper reports and facts that are already in existence. The extent of using them is discretion of that speaker, however the admissibility of the same is the discretion of the Judges.

05. The 12th edition has witnessed a huge response from students all over India and as such we have increased the number of participants from 32 to 48.

As a result, the Organizing Committee has decided to conduct a Semi-Final Round for fair representation.

8 Teams will be selected for the Semi-Final round from the Preliminary Rounds.

(4) The right guaranteed by this article shall not be suspended except as otherwise provided for by this Constitution

The Petitioners humbly submits to the jurisdiction of this Hon'ble Court.

STATEMENT OF FACTS

1. MLRC approached Hon'ble Supreme Court of India through a Public Interest Petition contending that the collection of the biometric data for the purpose of Janadhar Card, violates the Right to privacy of the citizens.
2. Petitioner contends that this is a violation of Article 21 of the Constitution of Indiana which grants "right to Privacy" as a fundamental right, which is evident in various decisions of the Apex Court and Appeals to declare Janadhar card scheme unconstitutional
3. Another petition filed by ACCESS before Honourable Supreme Court, has contended that Janadhar Card is made mandatory by Government to avail the benefits under various social welfare schemes.
4. They also contend that it is a clear violation of fundamental right to equality as guaranteed by the Constitution of Indiana.
5. They even contended that by denying citizens access to scheme also defeats the basic purpose of welfare state enshrined under the Directive Principles of State policies given in Constitution of Indiana.
6. The Honourable Supreme Court taking into consideration the gravity of the same, decided to hear the matters jointly and the notice was issued to the Union of Indiana in this regard.

-The matter will be heard before the hon'ble Supreme Court of Indiana on 13th January, 2018-

STATEMENT OF ISSUES

II

ARGUMENTS ADVANCED

1. WHETHER THE RIGHT TO PRIVACY IS GUARANTED UNDER PART III OF CONSTITUTION OF INDIANA?

It is humbly submitted before the Hon'ble court that the right to privacy, is guaranteed under Part III of the Constitution of Indiana[1] as the Right to Privacy is essential for the enjoyment of other recognized fundamental rights and diminution in the importance of the Right to Privacy will weaken the Fundamental Rights which have been expressly conferred. The right to privacy is also an implicit part of the the Right to Life and Personal Liberty under Art. 21 of the Constitution under Part III of the Constitution.

1.1. That the right to privacy is a natural and inalienable right:

1.1.1. Natural rights have been defined as those rights which grow out of nature of man and depend upon his personality and are distinguished from those which are created by positive laws enacted by a duly constituted government to create an orderly civilised society.[2]

1.1.2. Privacy is a natural right, inherent to a human being. It is thus a pre-Constitutional right which vests in humans by virtue of the fact that they are human. The right has been preserved and recognised by the Constitution, not created by it. Privacy is not bestowed upon an individual by the state, nor capable of being taken away by it. It is thus inalienable.

1.1.3. In the last resort a person's house is his "castle"[3] it is his rampart against encroachment on his personal liberty. Justice Frankfurter in Wold v. Colorado[4], pointed out the importance of the security of one's privacy against arbitrary intrusion by the police, could have no less application to an Indian home as to an American one. If physical restraints on a person's movements affect his personal liberty, physical encroachments on his private life would affect it in a larger degree. Indeed, nothing is more deleterious to a man's physical happiness and health than a calculated interference with his privacy thus eroding his natural rights.

1.1.4. The development of personality which is an essential natural right of human is only possible when the right to privacy exist. Private life includes the way in which individual views himself and how he decides to project this view towards others, and is an essential condition for the free development of the personality[5], making the right to privacy as an essential for development for personality as a natural right.

1.1.5. It is thus evident that a violation of privacy goes against the recognised standards and elements of Natural rights and hence it is humbly submitted that the Court recognises it as a part of Fundamental Rights under the Constitution.

Privacy was within the intent of the Drafters of the Constitution :

1.1.6. It is humbly submitted before the Hon'ble court that it has been widely stated that by not explicitly putting notion of privacy in Part III of the constitution, they intended to keep it out from the Fundamental Rights altogether, is not right.

1.1.7. The argument merits close consideration. The debates of the Constituent Assembly indicate that the Proposed inclusion(which was eventually dropped) was in two specific areas namely correspondence and searches and seizures. From this, it cannot be concluded that the Constituent Assembly had expressly resolved to reject the notion of the right to privacy as an integral element of the liberty and freedoms guaranteed by the Fundamental Rights.

1.1.8. The interpretation of the Constitution cannot be frozen by its original understanding. The Constitution has evolved and must continuously evolve to meet the aspirations and challenges of the present and the future. This is particularly of relevance in an age where technology reshapes our fundamental understanding of information, knowledge and human relationships that was unknown even in the recent past. Hence as judges interpreting the Constitution today, the court must leave open the path for succeeding generations to meet the challenges to privacy that may be unknown today.

1.2. That the Right to Privacy is implicit and inherent in Article 21, Article 19 and other Part III Fundamental Rights of the Constitution.

1.2.1. Privacy in all its aspects constitutes the springboard for the exercise of the freedoms guaranteed by Article 19(1) of the Constitution.[6] Freedom of speech and expression is always dependent on the capacity to think, read and write in private and is often exercised in a state of privacy, to the exclusion of those not intended to be spoken to or communicated with and therefore the right to free expression in Art.19(1)(a) of the Constitution also includes the Right to Privacy of communication.[7]

1.2.2. The right to settle and move freely throughout the territory of Indiana as given under Art.19(1)(d) and Art.19(1)(e) of the Constitution requires the right to privacy to be recognized.[8] This has also been recognized by the US Supreme Court in the Wolf v. Colorado[9] and is also supportive of the English law maxim " the house of everyone is to him a castle or fortress" as given in the Semayne v. Richard Gresham[10]. Thus the Semayne case recognized in dicta the extension of individual independence from the state to the house in which one resides and is supportive of the argument that Article 20(3) of the Constitution requires the principle of right to privacy for active and desirable working.

[10] Peter Semayne v Richard Gresham All ER Rep 62;5 Co Rep 91 a; Cro Eliz 908; Moore KB 668; Yelv 29 77 ER 194.

The importance of this was recognized by Justice Subba Rao when he dissented in the case of Kharak singh v. State of U.P.[11] and observed as under:

"How could a movement under the scrutinizing gaze of the policemen be described as a free movement? The whole country is his jail... the petitioner under the shadow of surveillance is certainly deprived of this freedom . He can move physically, but he cannot do so freely, for all his activities are watched and noted" a reading of the above-quoted text shows the right to privacy a necessary condition for the exercise of right to move freely throughout the territory of Indiana.

1.2.3. The further right of every religious denomination to maintain institutions for religious and charitable purposes, to manage its own affairs and to own and administer property acquired for such purposes vide Article 26 also requires privacy, in the sense of non-interference from the state.

That the right to privacy is protected as an intrinsic part of the right to life and personal liberty under Article 21.

1.2.4. It is submitted that the Constitution does not have a textually guaranteed right to privacy. The Constitutional meaning however is not fixed or static at its point of origin, but must evolve with time; or, in other words the constitution is a "living document". Constitution has certain core values that manifest themselves differently in different ages. The values themselves were derived from the Preamble, with dignity given the pride of place.[12]

1.2.5. It is humbly submitted before the Hon'ble court that the majority in the Kharak Singh v. State of U.P. regards the sanctity of the home and the protection against unauthorised intrusion an integral element of "ordered liberty". This is comprised in 'personal liberty' guaranteed by Art. 21. The decision invalidated domiciliary visits at night authorised by Regulation 236(b) of the U.P. police Regulation Act, finding them to be an unauthorised intrusion into the home and privacy of a person and thus a violation of the fundamental Right to personal liberty. Thus even an intrusion in privacy of an individual has been recognised, by this Court, as violating Art. 21 substantial to prove that privacy in embedded in it.

1.2.6. The majority in the Kharak Singh v. State of U.P. also referred to Munn v. Illinois[13] where it was brought to notice that the term right to 'life' doesn't mean merely human existence but also can be extended to the include various complimentary rights and that even though our constitution does not expressly grant us the right to privacy but the same can be traced from it. Even though the case is by an American court but still we do not entertain any doubt that the word life in Art. 21 of our Constitution bears the same significance.

1.2.7. In an article published, Samuel D Warren and Louis Brandeis[14] adverted to the evolution of the law to incorporate within it, the right to life. As legal rights were broadened, the right to life had "come to mean the right to enjoy life – the right to be let alone". They went on to elaborate that the 'right to be let alone' thus represented a manifestation of 'an inviolate personality', a core of freedom and liberty from which the human being had to be free from intrusion.

1.2.8. It is humbly submitted before this Hon'ble court that in the current state of things, Art.19(1), 21 ,20(3), 25 of the Constitution are all rights that are supplements and made meaningful by the exercise of Right to Privacy. Right to privacy is thus inherent in these Fundamental Rights. Therefore, the right to claim a basic condition like privacy in which guaranteed fundamental rights can be exercised must itself be regarded as a fundamental right. Privacy, thus, constitutes the basic, irreducible condition necessary for the exercise of 'personal liberty' and freedoms guaranteed by the Constitution.

1.3. That it is provided by Indiana's International commitments:

1.3.1. The recognition of privacy as a fundamental constitutional value is a part of Indiana's commitment to a global human rights regime. Art. 51[15] of the Constitution, which form part of the Directive Principles, requires the state to endeavour to 'foster respect for international law and treaty obligations in the dealings of organised peoples with one another.

1.3.2. Art.12 of the UDHR[16], recognised the right to privacy. "Art.12: no one shall be subjected to arbitrary interference with his privacy, family, home or correspondence, nor to attack upon his honor and reputation. Everyone has the right to the protection of the law against such interference or attacks." And since Indiana is a party to it, it has to safeguard the right to privacy.

1.3.3. Similarly, Art.17 of the ICCPR provides: "Art17: the obligation imposed by this article requires the state to adopt legislative and other measures to give effect to the prohibition against such interference and attacks as well as to the protection of the right."

1.3.4. The ICCPR[17] casts an obligation on states to respect, protect and fulfil its norms. The duty of a state to respect the right mandates that it must not violate the right. The duty to protect the right mandates that the government must protect it against any interference, even by private parties.

1.3.5. Significantly, while acceding to the ICCPR Indiana did not file any reservation or declaration to Art.17. Therefore, in furtherance of the same, Indiana should recognise Right to Privacy. There is no contradiction between the international obligations assumed by the state of Indiana and Constitution. There is no such inconsistency between Indiana laws which would make courts not to readily presume privacy to be fundamental. Our constitutional provisions must be read and interpreted in a manner which would enhance their conformity with the global human regime.[18]

1.3.6. The state of privacy recognition in Indiana is well on the judicial discretion of the court however the International commitments require the creation of codified laws insuring the protection of privacy and hence it is submitted before the court that Right to Privacy be codified and included within the constitutional limits

2. Whether the Janadhar Card Scheme is Unconstitutional and violates the provisions of Part III of the Constitution of Indiana?

It is humbly submitted that the Janadhar card scheme stands unconstitutional as it violates various fundamental rights under article 14[19] ,19[20] and 21[21] a conferred in part III of the constitution of Indiana.

2.1. That Janadhar violates Article 14 of the Constitution

As the constitution provides for reasonable restrictions on fundamental rights conferred under part III there are various tests that a legislation needs to pass to be able to infringe fundamental rights.

TEST OF REASONABLE CLASSIFICATION

2.1.1. The test of reasonable classification was laid down by SC in Budhan Chaudhary v. State of Bihar,[22] which provides that: (1) the classification proposed in the legislation must be founded on intelligible differentia and that, (2) there must be close nexus between the classification and the object of the Act

2.1.2. In the present case the government classify people into two classes those who hold a Janadhar card and those who do not which is arbitrary and unreasonable. It is contended that the law can only make and set apart the classes according to the needs and exigencies of the society[23]. Also the nexus established by the government is that it will help in efficient distribution of welfare schemes but fails to identify that it does not matter whether a person a Janadhar card or not he remains the citizen of Indiana and is entitled to all the welfare schemes provided by the state under Article 14 and no legislation can take away this right from him.

TEST OF ARBITRARINESS

2.1.3. The Janadhar card scheme of the government is arbitrary and unreasonable as there is no reasonable classification in place and the classification howsoever done has no nexus with the objectives of the law brought by the government of Indiana. Further, no proper guidelines have been laid in the Act for its implementation by the executive rendering it arbitrary[24] which is the antithesis of right to equality guaranteed to the people by the Constitution.[25]

2.1.4. The SC has held in Maneka Gandhi's Case,[26] that for any law to be valid, it must be in accordance with the procedure established by law, i.e., the law in addition to satisfying the requirements of Arts. 14 and 19, must also be in conformity with the principles of Natural Justice which includes, that it must be just, fair and reasonable. Whether a law is just, fair, and reasonable is to be determined by the facts and circumstances of the case.

2.1.5. In the present case, according to the respondent it is necessary to introduce Janadhar Cards mandatorily for the people in the country to implement welfare schemes successfully, to reduce corruption and to strengthen the security of Indiana but the same could be done so, with other methods that do not restrict the fundamental right to privacy of the people to such extent. The laws brought by the government grossly violate the dignity of the people by depriving them of their choice and keeping them under constant surveillance.

2.1.6. The Constitution is founded on the bedrock of the balance between Part III and Part IV. The goals set out in the Part IV have to be achieved without the abrogation of the means provided for by Part III. To destroy the guarantees given by Part III in order to achieve the goals of Part IV is plainly to subvert the Constitution. Therefore, it is the responsibility of the government to come up with a scheme which adequately preserves the fundamental rights of the people.

2.2. That Janadhar violates Article 21 of the Constitution

It is humbly submitted that Article 21 of the constitution of Indiana has a wide ambit and the Janadhar card scheme violates varies aspects of it.

DEPRIVATION OF CHOICE

[24] Kathi Ranning Rawat v. State of Saurashtra, AIR 1952 SC 123;
[25] E.P. Royappa v. State of Tamil Nadu, AIR 1974 SC 555

[26] Maneka Gandhi v. Union of India,1978 AIR 597, 1978 SCR (2) 621

2.2.1. The term, 'life' in Art. 21 does not mean 'mere animal existence', rather right to live with dignity[27].To realise this statement it is essential for people as the ability of an individual to make choices lies at the core of the human personality. The claim of the government of Indiana that Janadhar card scheme is voluntary to enrol holds no ground as the government has made it necessary to have for various benefit and non benefit schemes. So, if a person does not enrol for Janadhar Card by disclosing the mandatory information he shall not be able to avail the benefits of various government schemes, which leaves the person with little to no choice but to get enrolled.

COERCED CONSENT OBTAINED

2.2.2. Art. 21, guarantees the protection of "personal autonomy" of an individual personal autonomy includes both the negative right of not to be subject to interference by others and the positive right of individuals to make decisions about their life, to express themselves and to choose which activities to take part in.There can be no question of free consent in situations where an individual is being coerced to part with its biometric information (a) to be eligible for welfare schemes of the State; and/or (b) under the threat of penal consequences. In other words, the State cannot compel a person to part with biometrics as a condition precedent for discharge of the State's constitutional and statutory obligations, it has to be voluntary.

CONSTANT STATE SURVEILLANCE

2.2.3. Liberty is among the core values of the Constitution of Indiana. Right to privacy which is an integral part of Right to life ensures freedom from unwarranted state intervention.

2.2.4. Usually, various data that is collected is stored across multiple sources, and data required for a particular purpose is being taken from individuals at one time. This leads to the creation of informational silos. But under the Janadhar scheme of the government, which aims to be used as a multipurpose identification system, all the data pertaining to an individual could be accessed at one time. This situation severely compromises with the individual's autonomy, which is a well enshrined concept in human rights philosophy by the great philosophers such as Immanuel Kant.[28] In other words, every decision made by a person in Indiana could be under state surveillance. This could potentially lead to the denial of, and access to, many important social opportunities and other facilities for a particular section of people, who could be discriminated against by the state, using the information gathered.

2.2.5. Such action is only justified in case where the person is accused of some offence, otherwise regular surveillance of day to day transaction by government of general public is not just and fair in any manner and constitutes a violation of right to life of the people.[29] With regard to telephone tapping, the SC observed in Kharak Singh, [30] that, while telephone interception of guilty person by the police through lawful means is justified in larger public interest, the same is not justified when an innocent citizen is involved and will amount to violation of right to privacy, of the person.

THE PRINCIPLE OF PROPORTIONALITY

2.2.6. This envisages that a government ought to maintain a sense of proportion between its particular goals and the measure it takes to achieve those goals, so that its action impinges on the individual rights to the minimum extent so as to preserve public interest. The government requires the people to part with basic information about oneself, which is integral to one's personality, as well as core biometric information, which could have as well been handled through other methods, given the facts and circumstances

2.2.7. The right to life extends to allowing a person to preserve and protect his or her finger prints and iris scan. Thus every individual or citizen in this country has complete control over his/her body and State cannot insist any person for giving his/her finger tips or iris of eyes, as a condition precedent to enjoy certain rights. Whenever a person voluntarily entrusts his finger prints and iris scan to the state, the 'property' and entitlement is retained with that individual throughout his life but the state merely acts as a trustee or fiduciary. The trustee or fiduciary cannot compel the "beneficiary" to part with such sensitive person information.

INVOLVEMENT OF THIRD PARTY

2.2.8. The petitioner humbly submits that the government cannot just delegate its work to private entities when privacy of the citizen can be violated in case on any misuse. In District Registrar and collector, Hyderabad v. Canara bank[31] The Right to Privacy was construed as a right which attaches to the person. The significance of this is that the Right to privacy is not lost as a result of confidential documents or information being parted with by the customer to the custody of the bank. Access to bank records to the collector does not permit a delegation of those powers by the collector to a private individual. Information provided by an individual to a third party (in that case a bank) carries with it a reasonable expectation that it will be utilized only for the purpose for which it is provided. Parting with information (to the bank) does not deprive the individual of the privacy interest. The reasonable expectation is allied to the purpose for which information is provided. While legitimate aims of the state, such as the protection of the revenue may intervene to permit a disclosure to the state, the state must take care to ensure that the information is not accessed by a private entity.

2.3. That Janadhar violates Article 19 of the Constitution.

RIGHT TO REMAIN SILENT INFRINGED

2.3.7. It is humbly submitted before the Hon'ble Court that the Janadhar card scheme violates the Right to remain silent enunciated under Art. 19(1)(a) of the Constitution. Right to remain silent is included within the definition of freedom of speech and expression as has been recognized by the SC in the case of Bijoe Emmanuel v. State of Kerala. [32] The right includes by necessary implication, freedom not to listen and/or to remain silent.[33] Silence postulates a realm of privacy. An individual may perceive that the best form of expression is to remain silent. An important manifestation of the principle of free speech is that one who chooses to speak may also decide what not to say.[34]

2.3.8. In the present case, the Government has made Janadhar Cards mandatory for seeking benefits under different social welfare schemes of the government and also for issuing PAN Cards, enjoying welfare schemes and subsidies, Opening bank accounts, etc. The state by making Janadhar Cards mandatory for variety of schemes has compelled the citizens to part with their demographic and biometric information in clear violation of their right to remain silent.

2.3.9. One of the grounds on which right to expression can be restriction is when the is a threat to security of the state[35].The term "security of state" refers only to serious and aggravated forms of public order e.g. rebellion, waging war against the State, insurrection and not ordinary breaches of public order and public safety, e.g. unlawful assembly, riot, affray[36]Thus speeches or expression on the part of an individual, which incite or encourage the commission of violent crimes, such as, murder are matters, which would undermine the security of State. The present case does not fall under any of the criteria of the restrictions laid down above. On the contrary, the security of the citizens is hampered on the leakage of their personal data in the public.

32. Remedies for enforcement of rights conferred by this Part
(1) The right to move the Supreme Court by appropriate proceedings for the enforcement of the rights conferred by this Part is guaranteed
(2) The Supreme Court shall have power to issue directions or orders or writs, including writs in the nature of habeas corpus, mandamus, prohibition, quo warranto and certiorari, whichever may be appropriate, for the enforcement of any of the rights conferred by this Part
(3) Without prejudice to the powers conferred on the Supreme Court by clause (1) and (2), Parliament may by law empower any other court to exercise within the local limits of its jurisdiction all or any of the powers exercisable by the Supreme Court under clause (2)
(4) The right guaranteed by this article shall not be suspended except as otherwise provided for by this Constitution

The Respondent humbly submits to the jurisdiction of this Hon'ble Court.

STATEMENT OF FACTS

1. MLRC approached Hon'ble Supreme Court of India through a Public Interest Petition contending that the collection of the biometric data for the purpose of Janadhar Card, violates the Right to privacy of the citizens.
2. Petitioner contends that this is a violation of Article 21 of the Constitution of Indiana which grants "right to Privacy" as a fundamental right, which is evident in various decisions of the Apex Court and Appeals to declare Janadhar card scheme unconstitutional
3. Another petition filed by ACCESS before Honourable Supreme Court, has contended that Janadhar Card is made mandatory by Government to avail the benefits under various social welfare schemes.
4. They also contend that it is a clear violation of fundamental right to equality as guaranteed by the Constitution of Indiana.
5. They even contended that by denying citizens access to scheme also defeats the basic purpose of welfare state enshrined under the Directive Principles of State policies given in Constitution of Indiana.
6. The Honourable Supreme Court taking into consideration the gravity of the same, decided to hear the matters jointly and the notice was issued to the Union of Indiana in this regard.

-The matter will be heard before the hon'ble Supreme Court of Indiana on 13th January, 2018-

STATEMENT OF ISSUES

II

ARGUMENTS ADVANCED

1. Whether "right to privacy" is guaranteed in the Part III of Constitution of Indiana?

1.1. That the constitute assembly rejected the concept of the right to privacy to be included within the constitution.

1.1.1 It is reverentially submitted that the Constitute Assembly Debates act as a legitimate external aid for interpretation of the constitutional provisions[1] [2].It is a settled position that debates in the Constituent Assembly may be relied upon as an aid to interpret the intention of the framers.[3] [4] [5]

1.1.2 The founding fathers of the constitution, it is humbly submitted, rejected the notion of privacy being a fundamental right.[6] Hence it has been submitted that it would be outside the realm of constitutional adjudication for the court to declare a fundamental right to privacy and the same can only be done through a parliamentary amendment in the Constitution.

1.1.3 On 17 March 1947, K M Munshi submitted Draft articles on the fundamental rights and duties of citizens to the Sub-committee on fundamental rights. Among the rights of freedom proposed in clause 5 were the following...

(f) the right to the inviolability of his home

(g) the right to the secrecy of his correspondence,

(h) the right to maintain his person secure by the law of the Union from exploitation in any manner contrary to law or public authority...".

1.1.4. The draft report of the Sub-committee submitted on 3 April 1947 contained a division between the fundamental rights into justiciable and non-justiciable rights. Clause 9(d) and Clause 10 provided as follows:

[1] Fagu Shaw v state of west Bengal, AIR 1974 SC 613(India).

[2] the several opinions in Kesavananda Bharati: (1973) 4 SCC 225

[3] SR Chaudhary v. State Of Punjab and others, (2001) 7 SCC 2006.

[4] Golak Nath v. State of Punjab: AIR 1967 SC 1643 (Subba Rao, CJ)

[5] Opinion of Sikri, CJ, in Union of India v. H.S. Dhillon: (1971) 2 SCC 779

[6] CONSTITUENT ASSEMBLY OF INDIA VOLUME-III, Wednesday, the 30th April, 1947

"9(d) The right of every citizen to the secrecy of his correspondence. Provision may be made by law to regulate the interception or detention of articles and messages in course of transmission by post, telegraph or otherwise on the occurrence of any public emergency or in the interests of public safety or tranquility...

Clause 10: The right of the people to be secure in their persons, houses, papers and effects against unreasonable searches and seizures, shall not be violated and no warrants shall issue but upon probable cause, supported by oath or affirmation, and particularly describing the place to be searched, and the persons or things to be seized".

1.1.5. This discussion indicates that there was a debate during the course of Constituent assembly on the proposal to guarantee a right to privacy in clause 9(d). the objection to clause 9(d) by Sir Alladi Krishnaswamy Iyer and his view that the guarantee may lead to every private correspondence becoming a state paper resulted in the subsequent dropping of the clause on the ground that it would constitute a serious impediment in prosecution.

1.1.6. Eventually, clause 9(d) and clause 10 were dropped from the chapter dealing with fundamental rights. The debates of the constituent assembly indicate that the framers were unwilling to include this right to privacy in the constitution and hence this Hon'ble Court cannot invoke the notion of the right to privacy as an integral element of the liberty and freedoms guaranteed by the fundamental rights and the same cannot be considered as implicit within the Right to personal liberty.

1.2. That privacy is too vague, amorphous and elitist a concept to be added to Part III and as a result goes against various socio-economic rights of individuals.

1.2.1. It is humbly submitted before this Hon'ble court that too broad a definition of privacy will raise serious questions about the propriety of judicial reliance on a right that is not explicit in the constitution. Its various definitions create quite a lot of confusion. Hence, it becomes extremely difficult to talk about the right to privacy as a fundamental right without any explicit mention even in the constitution of Indiana. Privacy is just another fancy word for putting unreasonable restrictions on powers exercisable by the state, powers which are exercised for furtherance of welfare objectives. Privacy as a concept has a broad ambit developed by people having a narrow understanding of how a welfare state functions and it cannot be granted primacy to deprive poor people of their rights to life, food and shelter.

1.2.2. Nobody can articulate what privacy means, it is a sweeping concept encompassing freedom of though, control of body and what not. Philosophers, legal theorists and jurists have frequently lamented the great difficulty in reaching a satisfying conception of privacy. legal scholar Arthur Miller[78] has declared that privacy is "difficult to define because it is exasperatingly vague and evanescent." It all makes it even more necessary to prevent right to privacy becoming a Fundamental Right.

1.2.3. In Govind v. State of Madhya Pradesh[9] Mathew, J. stated that "too broad a definition of privacy will raise serious questions about the propriety of judicial reliance on a right that is not explicit in the constitution.... The most serious advocate of privacy must confess that there are serious problems of defining the essence and scope of the right. Privacy interest in autonomy must also be placed in the context of other rights and values."[10]

1.2.4. Privacy is in fact so wide a concept that it rightly so qualifies as a hoax in an attempt to restrain the exercise of powers by the state. Such restrains in reality can be equated to stripping a welfare state of its essential powers. And one does not need a seasoned judicial sense to understand the implications of such stripping of powers of a welfare state. It would lead to a scenario where a welfare state has powers which are as good as having no power at all.

1.2.5. In this world of technological advancement, the requirement of a welfare state in place is way more important than having a right to privacy. unless we want to destabilise working welfare state machinery, unless we are to compromise the collective development and welfare of the state subjects, we will have to let go of the vague idea of unquantifiable right to privacy.

1.2.6. The right to life is to be given primacy over the 'right to personal liberty' in Art.21, since privacy, if at all is a right; it would flow from 'right to personal liberty' and not the right to life. Since right to life encompasses socio-economic rights. The acceptance of the Parliament's repeal of right to property as a fundamental right by the Supreme Court, in favour of an egalitarian socio-economic regime is ample testimony to the fact that socio-economic rights have been preferred over civil and political rights like that of privacy.

1.2.7. it is humbly submitted before this Hon'ble court that the right to privacy goes against the very guarantees made under right to life and the preamble. When the state undertakes welfare measures and schemes traceable not only to the right to life under Article 21 of the Constitution, but also to the guarantees like social justice, economic justice and protecting the dignity of the individual[11], a claim to privacy, which would destroy or erode basic foundation of the Constitution, can never be elevated to a status of fundamental right.

1.3. That the right to privacy, even if considered to be a right, shall come with reasonable restrictions like other Fundamental Rights.

1.3.1. Exercise of right to privacy guaranteed by the Constitution of India is not absolute,[12] and the government can impose reasonable restrictions as and when the situation arises in the interest of the community.[13] It is essential for the Government of Indiana to impose reasonable restrictions on the exercise of Right to Privacy of its people, in view of larger public interest[14] of strengthening the security of the state, to bring down the level of corruption, to ensure free and fair elections and to ensure welfare entitlements provided by the government properly reach the deprived sections of the society.

1.3.2. European Convention on Human Rights also recognizes that right to privacy is not absolute and lays down certain circumstances which include national security, public safety and the economic well-being of the country, protection of health, rights and freedoms of others, inter alia under which the right can be interfered with, by the state.[15]

1.3.3. Lord Denning while stating that the English law must recognize right to privacy, also asserted that the exercise of the same cannot be free from limitations.[16] Though right to privacy is an inalienable right; its curtailment is necessary for stability of the society.[17] Following these principles, interception of telephone calls to prevent organized crimes in accordance with the provisions of MOCCA has also been held to be constitutionally valid by SC.[18]

1.3.4. To begin with, the options canvassed for limiting the right to privacy include an Art. 14 type reasonableness enquiry[19]; limitation as per the express provisions of Art. 19; a just, fair and reasonable basis for limitation per Art. 21; and finally, a just, fair and reasonable standard per Art.21 plus the amorphous standard of 'compelling state interest'. The last of these four options is the highest standard of scrutiny[20] that a court can adopt. It is from this menu that a standard review for limiting the right of privacy needs to be chosen.

1.4. That if the right to privacy has to be elevated its not the duty of this court to do that but the parliament, through an amendment has to do it:

1.4.1. This court itself in the famous Keshavananda Bharti case circumscribed the parliamentary power to amend the constitution by saying its basic structure should not be altered or disturbed. In the event, therefore, if anyone can make changes to the constitution, it is the Parliament.

1.4.2. If this court submits to favoring of the right to privacy it will steamroll its views into the constitution, thus in the process substituting the views of the constitution makers with its own. The constituent assembly in its debates debated and decided against carving out the right to privacy as a standalone and independent fundamental right. In other words, they saw merit in ambiguity in this regard. The court can no longer put the argument of expanding the ambit in accordance with the constitution since the very drafters disapproved of this.

1.4.3. The counsel humbly submits to this Hon'ble court that it must be left to the Parliament and the executive to decide. The courts should not sit in judgment over matters of administration and governance.[21] This court should follow of what it did in the Naz Foundation case to limit there powers towards determining the constitutionality of the provisions and leave the remaining for the Parliament to decide. To hail and favor this would weaken the Indian democracy and time alone will tell if it has instead sown the seeds of weakening it by subversive elements hiding and lurking behind the veneer of right to privacy.

2. Whether the Janadhar Card Scheme is Unconstitutional and violates the provisions of Part III of the Constitution of Indiana?

It is humbly submitted before the Hon'ble Court that the Janadhar Card Scheme, brought by the respondent is not in violation of Art. 14, Art. 19 or Art. 21 guaranteed under Part III of the Constitution of India .

Janadhar Card scheme is a scheme which provides a 12-digit identity card after taking certain biometric data like fingerprint scan and iris scan only after due consent of the citizen. Use of biometric data is indispensable for the government as it is the best way through which identity of a person remains intact as the chance of finding similar fingerprints is one in 64-billion. This along with minimising the chances of duplicity and enables . This will help the state to efficiently implementation of social welfare schemes, without wastage of resources

2.1.That there is legitimate state interest

[21] Cwp No. 581 Of 2017 vs State Of H.P. And Others(CWP No. 581 of 2017 a/w CWP)

2.1.1. It is humbly submitted that a balance must be struck between the interests of the individual and that of the State. The three step process to strike this balance comprises firstly, there must be a law in existence to justify an encroachment. Secondly, there must be a legitimate state aim, ensuring that the restriction of the statute falls within the zone of reasonableness mandated by Article 14. Thirdly, the means which are adopted by the legislature must be proportional to the object and needs of the legislation/provision.

2.1.2. In essence, the pursuit of a legitimate state aim ensures that the law does not suffer from manifest arbitrariness and disproportionality. In reference to Janadhaar, the state defines the extent of 'legitimate state interest' in a social welfare state. It is humbly presented that if the government embarks upon programmes which provide benefits to impoverished and marginalised sections of society, then there is clearly a vital state interest in ensuring that scarce public resources are not dissipated by the diversion of resources to persons who do not qualify as recipients. This is justified as it will reduce the chances of duplicity and fakeness providing efficiency.

2.2. That there is no Infringement of_Article 14 of the Constitution of Indiana

2.2.1 Article 14 guarantees to every person the right to equality before the law or the equal protection of the laws. Equality before the law, means that amongst equals should be equal and equally administered and that like should be treated alike. Sometimes the state needs to differentiate and classify people in order to ensure that unequal are not treated equally and the doctrine of equality us upheld.

2.2.2 For the classification to be permissible two conditions was laid down:
The classification must be founded on an intelligible differentia.
The differentia must have a rational nexus with the object sought to be achieved by the statue in question.[22],[23],[24]

[22] National Council for Teacher Education and Ors. vs. Shri Shyam Shiksha Prashikshan Sansthan and Ors.,AIR 2011 SC 932

2.2.3. In the instant case the Janadhar Policy aimed at classifying people based on whether the person holds an Janadhar card or not and implement welfare schemes based on such reasonable classification as this classifiction will reduce the chances of duplicity and fakeness and prevent the wastage of resources . There is Rational Nexus between Classification and Objective Sought. It is contended that the law can make and set apart the classes according to the needs and exigencies of the society.[25] If the legislative policy is clear and definite and as an effective method of carrying out that policy a discretion is vested by the statute upon a body of administrators or officers to make selective application of the law to certain classes or groups of persons, the statute itself cannot be condemned as a piece of discriminatory legislation.[26]

2.2.4. 'Article 14 strikes at arbitrariness in State action and ensures fairness and equality of treatment. The principle of reasonableness[27] is an essential element of equality or non-arbitrariness. While Article 14 forbids class legislation it does not forbid reasonable classification of persons, objects, and transactions by the legislature for the purpose of achieving specific ends. But classification must not be "arbitrary, artificial or evasive".

2.2.5. This court in the case of Maneka Gandhi v. Union of India[28] relied upon the principle of Wednesbury Unreasonableness that applies to a decision which is so outrageous in its defiance of logic or of accepted moral standards that no sensible person who applied his mind to the question to be decided could have arrived at it.

2.2.6. In the instant case, the State had brought in the Janadhar policy only to ensure that citizens enjoy manifold benefits through the process of generation of single identity which was free from the dangers of falsification and duplicity. There was no overt administrative overreach and the government was objective in its approach.

2.2.7. Section 7 of the Aadhaar Act, 2016 is an enabling provision and allows the Central Government/State Government to require Aadhaar for delivery of benefits and services and until Aadhaar is not assigned, alternate means of identification is accepted in terms of the respective Notifications. This means that those who do not currently own an janadhar card will not infringe any rights be it right to food, right to healthy environment (with LPG subsidies), right to livelihood and many more. The functioning of state will remain as it is at present.

2.2.8. Janadhar scheme is in furtherance of the Directive Principles of State Policy, namely Articles 38, 39 (b) (c), 46, 47, 51(c) as the use of the Janadhar number will help to verify that a resident is entitled to availing of social welfare measures carried out in public interest.

2.2.9. The courts have raised social and economic justice to the level of fundamental right.[29] All state action should be such as to make socio-economic democracy with liberty, equality and fraternity, a reality to all the people through democratic socialism under the rule of law. In Unnikrishnan v. State of A.P the directive principle contained in Art. 45 has been raised to the status of a fundamental right

2.2.10. Government can impose reasonable restrictions on fundamental rights, for promoting or effectuating a directive principle in public interest.[30] Thus in the instant case to impose reasonable restriction on the right to privacy will be justified The Constitution can be reshaped to give effect to these principles for the purpose of social good, with certain limitations. Though, these principles are not justiciable these are not merely moral principles, but these are fundamental in the governance of the country.

2.3.That the right to privacy is not an absolute right and qualifies to certain restrictions

2.3.1. It is humbly submitted before this Hon'ble court that this court has recognised the right to privacy in its various judgement but what it has also recognised is that this right qualifies for some restrictions and this is submitted that the Janadhar Card Scheme falls under that reasonable restriction. It is also conferred under Article 19(2) of Constituttion of Indiana.

[29] Air India Statutory Corp. v. United Labour Union (AIR 1997 SC 645.)

[30] Papanasam Labour Union v. Madura Coats Ltd., (1995) SCC 1501

2.3.2. The Hon'ble Supreme Court in District Registrar & Collector, Hyderabad & Anr. vs. Canara Bank & Ors.,[31] and Gobind v. state of Madhya Pradesh & anr.[32] case that held that is not an absolute right and qualifies to certain reasonable restrictions like any other fundamental right.

In the present case the state has a compelling state interest to provide the citizen of Indiana with socio economic schemes and for efficient delivery it is important to restrict forgery and duplicity which will be achieved through identification of individuals by their Janadhar cards under Janadhar Card Scheme.

2.3.3. The right to privacy can be restricted if there is a compelling state interest to be served and recognised threat to national security in the nature of compelling state interest.[33]Terrorism and hostile neighbours pose a huge threat to the national security of the state. The Janadhar Card Scheme brought by the government will help in eliminating all forms of terrorism by finishing off sleeping modules and local support bases of terrorists in the country. Also, the whole project will help in keeping track of financial transactions throughout the country, which in turn will curb terror finance and Hawala transactions.

2.3.4. The European Union Regulation of 2016[34] Provides for restrictions of the right to privacy may be justifiable in the following circumstances subject to the principle of proportionality

2.3.5. It is humbly submitted before this Hon'ble Court that the Aadhar Act 2016 through it is Preamble states that "An Act to provide for, as a good governance, efficient, transparent, and targeted delivery of subsidies, benefits and services, the expenditure for which is incurred from the

[33] Art. 19(20 Constitution of Indiana, 1949

[34] Regulation (EU) 2016/679 of the European Parliament and of the Council of 27 April 2016 on the protection of natural persons with regard to the processing of personal data and on the free movement of such data, and repealing Directive 95/46/EC (General Data Protection Regulation)

Consolidated Fund of India, to individuals residing in India through assigning of unique identity numbers to such individuals and for matters connected therewith or incidental thereto". It even has Chapter VI which deals with Protection of Data including Section 28 which is security and confidentiality information, Section 29 on restriction of sharing information, Section 33 on Disclosure of Personal information. It also in Chapter VII provide for Offences and Punishment of illegitimate use or procedure of data. Hence it clearly has justified reasons for encroachment on privacy and it ensures that the nature and quality of the encroachment on the right is not disproportionate to the purpose of the law.[35]

2.4. That the restriction of Article 21 of the Constitution of India is Reasonable

2.4.1. The State infringing the right to privacy can be met by the test suggested for limiting the discretion of the State (i) The action must be sanctioned by law;(ii) The proposed action must be necessary in a democratic society for a legitimate aim;(iii) The extent of such interference must be proportionate to the need for such interference;(iv) There must be procedural guarantees against abuse of such interference." As observed in Maneka Gandhi case[36]" The procedure prescribed by law has to be fair, just and reasonable, not fanciful, oppressive or arbitrary."

2.4.2. Indian law puts significant responsibility on persons (including companies) handling sensitive personal data or information to implement reasonable security measures for protecting such information section 87 read with section 43A of the Information Technology Act, 2000 (21 of 2000) has defined reasonable security practices and procedures to be followed by those possessing, dealing or handling sensitive personal data or information.

2.4.3. The law is made with the state aim to check the leakage in government schemes and to prevent corruption happening in PDS and other subsidy providing schemes of the government. It is even in proportion to encroachment of right as establish by law. Hence it is not violative of Article 21 of the Right to Privacy.

[35] Aadhar Act 2016

[36] Maneka Gandhi vs Union Of India 1978 AIR 597, 1978 SCR (2) 621

2.4.4. This Hon'ble court has itself endorsed the usage of Janadhar cards. It is humbly submitted that something endorsed by the apex court of India will be of supreme utility and absolutely in vires of the law applicable.In the case of PUCL Vs. Union of India [37]has approved the recommendations of the High Powered Committee headed by Justice D.P Wadhwa, which recommended linking of Janadhar with PDS and encouraged state Governments to adopt the same.

2.4.5. This Hon'ble Court in State of Kerala & Others Vs. President, Parents Teachers Association, SNVVP and Others (2013)[38] has directed use of Janadhar for checking bogus admissions in schools

2.4.6. The Supreme Court, while monitoring the PILs relating to night shelters for the- homeless and the right to food trough the public distribution system, has lauded and complemented the efforts of State Governments for inter alia carrying out biometric identification of the head of family of each household to eliminate fictitious, bogus and ineligible BPL/MY household cards and also for biometric identification of homeless persons so that the benefits like supply of food and kerosene oil available to persons who are below poverty line should get the benefits. in PUCL v. Union of India [39]

2.4.7. The USA had introduced social security number (SSN) by an enactment in 1935 for a limited purpose of providing social security benefits. Considering its strong reduplication and unique identifier feature, Social Security Number was adopted by Internal Revenue Service as its official Tax Identification Number in 1962 (just as Indian Parliament has recently introduced section 139 AA Income Tax Act [40] to mandatorily require Aadhaar for PAN and Income Tax returns).

[38] PUCL Vs. Union of India AIR2014Chh133

[39] PUCL Vs. Union of India AIR2014Chh133

[40] Income Tax Act,1995

2.4.8. Section 205(c)(2) Social Security Act was amended to require SSN for host of other services. In *Doyle v. Wilson,*the US Court held that "mandatory disclosure of one's social security number does not so threaten the sanctity of individual privacy as to require constitutional protection."

2.4.9. In United Kingdom also almost every important service requires National Insurance Number (NIN). It is required for those who want to work, pay taxes, want to receive child benefits, and even those who want to vote..

2.5.That Hypothetical, Futuristic, Conjectural and academic Grounds Cannot Dismiss Well-Established Principle of law

2.5.1. It is submitted that adjudication of the present writ petitions is not within judicially manageable standards. This Hon'ble Court cannot be expected to forestall questions which may arise in future cases and decide them, more or less, in vacuo or in abstract and in the of necessary materials or facts The allegations made by the Petitioner as regards violation of right to privacy, commercial usage of sensitive personal data, tracking surveillance, are entirely hypothetical and seek to question the veracity of hied and tested technology which has been introduced by experts after careful consideration. This Hon'ble Court has repeatedly held that "the Court cannot strike down a policy decision ... , merely because it feels that another policy decision would have been fairer or wiser or more scientific logical." [41]

2.5.2. It is well-settled that a potential for abuse cannot be a basis for striking down a law as ultra vires the Constitution and that it is'the actual abuse that must be brought before the Court for being tested on the anvil of constitutional provisions[42]. Mere possibility of abuse of a provision does not, by itself, justify its invalidation. The validity of a provision must be tested with reference to its operation and efficiency in the generality of cases exceptions that its application might possibly produce in some rare cases.

Hello Friends!

Dear Researchers,

Report

Guest lecture on Responsibility towards society by PI Dayanand Dhome

Police Inspector Dayanand Dhome visited college for guest lecture on 12th July 2017. He guided students on topic Safety Measures for girl students Lecture was attended by 45 students.

He encouraged girls to be mentally alert and confident enough to handle these situations. The girls keep on suffering as they hesitate in sharing these problems with their parents, fearing they would be told to discontinue their education. This affects their personality and confidence level. He asked them to share their problems so that we can find solutions.

Few Important points of his speech are as follows

The Women Development Cell ensures that women safety is taken seriously on campus. There are various programs and activities that are conducted all year long that emphasis on safety and security. Self-defense sessions are also conducted as part of the cell.

Safety measures should be taken by the counselors and overnight supervisors, who would closely watch the students at night, followed by conducting room checks every 15 minutes at a minimum and assist the students in case of any emergency.
CCTV cameras should be strategically placed in every corner of the building to ensure the safety and well-being of both the students and the staff.
Pepper Spray is definitely a good weapon. It causes an immediate closing of the eyes, difficulty in breathing, running nose, and coughing. The duration of its effect depends on the strength of the spray, but the average full effect lasts around thirty to forty-five minutes, with diminished effects lasting for hours. One spray for three seconds will leave the person disoriented and that will buy you some time to either escape or call for help. Or even hit your attacker in the right places.
Personal safety is all about Attitude, Awareness, Avoidance and Action. If your attitude is right, you are aware of your surroundings, know how to avoid risks and are ready to act in the face of a threat, you've won half the battle. The idea is to act in a way that doesn't create the window of opportunity that allows perverts to abuse you sexually. All the institutions must be committed to providing quality services and programmes that enhance residential students safety.

Report on CID Visit

Venue: - CID Department, Ganeshkhind, Pune.

Date and Time: - 4th and 6th January 2018, 11.00 a.m.

Introduction: - From January 02 to January 06, 2018, Modern Law College hosted a visit to the Crime Investigation Department (hereafter "the Department"). The visit was organised by the College in response to a letter from the CID Department dated January 29, 2018. The visit was prompted by the Department's commemoration of 'Raising Day,' which took place from January 2 through January 8, 2018. The major goal of the event was to foster communication between the police and the general people.

Working of CID:-

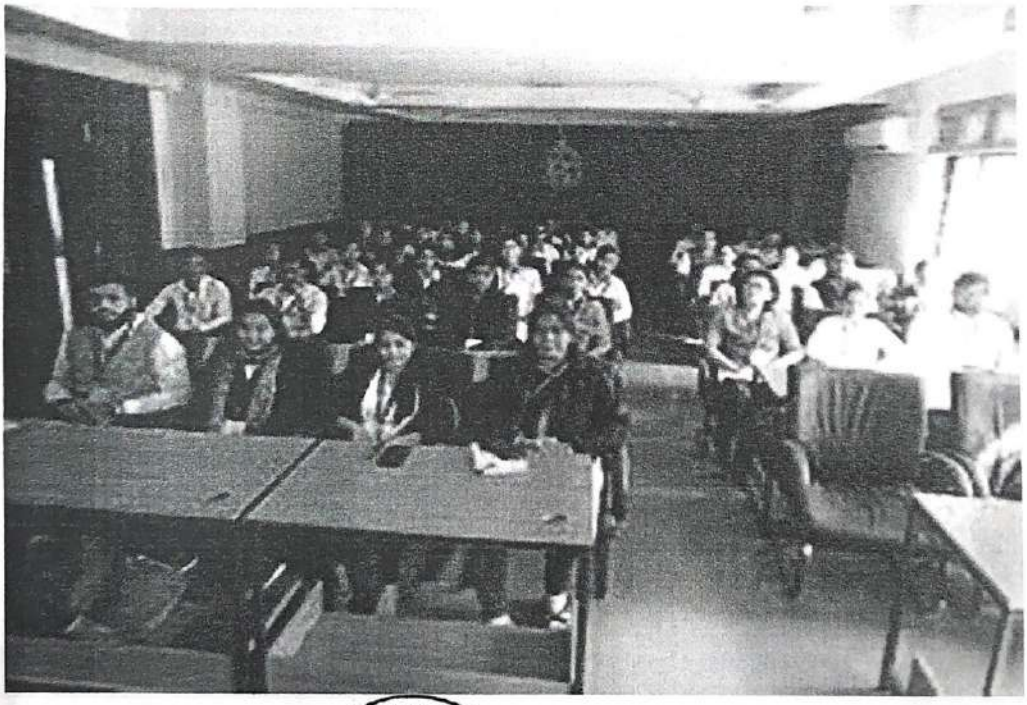

The Maharashtra Department is based in Pune, on Pashan Road, immediately close to the College. The goal of the tour was to have a better understanding of the Department's operations and fingerprint analysis.

The Department's goal is to make Maharashtra the safest state in the country. The mantra that guides them is "finding wrong to discover the truth."

The Maharashtra State Police's investigating wing is the Department. The Department's and local police departments use the same investigating process. The Department, on the other hand, only gets involved when the investigation is difficult or involves interstate/ inter-district issues.

REPORT STRESS MANAGEMENT LECTURE

Date: - 21st September 2018

Time: - 11.00 am to 1.00 pm

Students in today's world are under a lot of stress, whether it is academic related or family related or peer pressure. P. E. S. Modern Law College organized a guest lecture on "Stress Management" for the students on 21st September 2018 and invited Dr. Vishal Harpale, the guest lecturer Cognitive Behavioral Psychotherapist, Noble Hospital, Magarpatta, Pune. He discussed the categories of stress levels with the students and taught them techniques that can help manage stress in their daily routine.

Cognitive behavioral therapy (CBT) is a type of psychotherapeutic treatment that helps people learn how to identify and change destructive or disturbing thought patterns that have a negative influence on behavior and emotions.

Cognitive behavioral therapy focuses on changing the automatic negative thoughts that can contribute to and worsen emotional difficulties, depression, and anxiety. These spontaneous negative thoughts have a detrimental influence on mood.

Through CBT, these thoughts are identified, challenged, and replaced with more objective, realistic thoughts. There are a number of specific types of therapeutic approaches that involve CBT, including:

Cognitive therapy centers on identifying and changing inaccurate or distorted thinking patterns, emotional responses, and behaviors; it is focused on using a wide range of strategies to help people overcome these thoughts. Techniques may include journaling, role-playing, relaxation techniques, and mental distractions.

He explained the techniques of Practicing New Skills, Goal-Setting, Problem-Solving, Learning problem solving skills can help you identify and solve problems that arise from life stressors, both big and small, and reduce the negative impact of psychological and physical illness.

He gave a path way for achieving solutions:

- Identifying a problem
- Generating a list of possible solutions
- Evaluating the strengths and weaknesses of each possible solution
- Choosing a solution to implement
- Implementing the solution6
- Self-Monitoring

Cognitive behavior therapy can be used as a short-term treatment to help individuals learn to focus on present thoughts and beliefs.

CBT is used to treat a wide range of conditions including Addiction, Anger issues, Anxiety, Bipolar disorder, Depression, Eating disorders, Panic attacks, Personality disorders, Phobias, Chronic pain or serious illnesses, Divorce or break-ups, Grief or loss, Insomnia, Low self-esteem, Relationship problems, Stress management.

PES's Modern Law College

Where earlier behavior therapies had focused almost exclusively on associations, reinforcements, and punishments to modify behavior, the cognitive approach addressed how thoughts and feelings affect behaviors.

Today, cognitive behavioral therapy is one of the most well-studied forms of treatment and has been shown to be effective in the treatment of a range of mental conditions including anxiety, depression, eating disorders, insomnia, obsessive-compulsive disorder, panic disorder, post-traumatic stress disorder, and substance use disorder.

MESSAGE FROM PRINCIPAL

Hello friends,

It is an honour and a privilege to be the Principal of Modern law College, the college that stands for excellence and continuously sets the highest standards, the college is an alma mater which all alumni look back to with fond memories.

As rightly said by Dean Roscoe Pound, "Law is an experience developed by reason and applied continually to further experience." Thus we at Modern Law College try to meet this saying by imparting the experience of giving logical reasoning and thus understanding the philosophy of the law by the students.

In my opinion, an education institute is not just about bricks, mortar and concrete, but about building character, enriching minds and about enriching experiences that lasts a life time. Life is not a set of instructions but is a series of experiences and learning process. P.E. Society's Modern law College is organizing the 13th Shankarrao Kanitkar National Level Moot Court Competition on 11th and 12th January 2019. We have several colleges participating in it. My best wishes are with all the team and hope they do excel in the future.

I hope, we will do our best for the progress of the college and the students under the able guidance of our management and our well wishers.

Dr. Sunita Adhav
Principal

About Shakarrao Kanitkar National Level Moot Court Competition

"By battling and arguing, you might succeed in confounding your listener but your victory will be in vain because you will never obtain the sincere agreement of your adversary".

Franklin Roosevelt

President, United States of America

As rightly said by Franklin Roosevelt, an argument must not be to defeat your opponent but to obtain his agreement, and what better way than by practice. Shankarrrao Kanitkar National Moot Court Competition is an annual moot court competition organized by the Progressive Education Society's Modern Law College, Pune. This competition has been established in the name of our founder member of the society Late Shri Shankarrao Kanitkar, a visionary in the field of education. This competition is intended to be a platform for law students studying in all over India. Here these budding advocates can match their advocacy skills with each other. The special feature of this competition is that it is not confined to any subject or topic. We at Modern Law College believe and give a varied flavour of different subjects and legal intricacies to the law students. Thus, we help in overall understanding and development of a law student. It is the aspiration of the college to undertake the issues that are relevant in the changing society and thus we draft the moot problem accordingly.

The 13th Shankarrao Kanitkar National Moot Court Competition was held on 11th and 12th January, 2019. The theme revolved around right of LGBTQI community, recognition and validity of same sex marriage. As the case had many debates and deliberations on this point specifically after decriminalization of s. 377 of Indian Penal Code, special attention was required; hence the moot court competition was organized on this point.

RAINBOW vs. Union of India

Mr. X and Mr. Y are citizens of India. Both had gone to Ireland to pursue higher education and subsequently started working in Ireland. They were already into a relationship and eventually got married according to the Irish Laws during their stay. They were in marital relationship for two years and were residing in Ireland. On 15th September 2017 they relocated to India. They both started staying in a apartment in Bandra, Mumbai. On 10th September 2018, Mr. X left the apartment and went on to stay separately without informing Mr. Y. Despite several attempts of contact from Y, Mr. X did not respond. With no other option left Mr. Y tried filing a case but was not allowed to do it.

Aggrieved by this Mr. Y approached an NGO named RAINBOW who works and fights for the rights of LGBTQI [Lesbian, Gay, Bisexual, Transgender, Queer, Intersex] section of society in India. Rainbow after consultation with their panel of legal experts who through their research on the recent landmark Judgment dated 6th Sep, 2018 on decriminalization of sec.377 of Indian Penal Code, where the Supreme Court found that Section 377 violates the right of members of the LGBTQI community to dignity, identity, and privacy, all covered under Article 21 & 19(1) (a). Due to plethora of issues related with recognition of same sex marriage like Domestic Violence, Cruelty, and Maintenance, Raging modesty.
